Columbian Players To Present "Stalag 17" on December 1, 2, 3

by Jim Chambers

Heil Hitler! The Gestapo has taken over the auditorium. "Stalag 17," the Columbian players first major production this year, will be presented on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, Dec. 1, 2, and 3 at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium.

Admission will be free to all St. Joe students, $1.00 for adults, and $.50 for children. Tickets may be purchased in the cafeteria.

Movie Version Wins Oscar

The play, half comedy and half drama, deals with the life of American airmen in a German prisoner-of-war camp during World War II. The conflict lies in the fact that a German spy has been informing the commandant of all the plans made in the barracks. All the action takes place inside a barren room which suggests the atmosphere of lives lived in suspension, of boredom, yet tenseness, of nerves on edge.

The play was first produced in New York in 1951 by Jose Ferrer and Richard Condon. Shortly afterward, it was made into an Academy Award-Winning motion picture. Attesting to its continued popularity, is the fact that 17 colleges are planning to produce it this year.

Brady Plays Protagonist

Three veterans of last year's "Twelve Angry Men" have been given the lead roles. Jim Trotter will play Huffy, the barracks leader; Charlie Tilton will perform as Price, the security man; and Leon Brady will take the role of Sefton, the protagonist.

Others in the cast are: Dennis Fus, Jim Collins, Mike Kanne, Ken Brown, Glen Clausen, Frank Marousek, Tom Hennessy, Jim Chambers, Bob Funk, Dick Vlaha, Dave Mann, John Tatro, and Bob Luneburg.

Refreshments, Too!

Mr. Ralph Cappuccilli, director of the play, had this to say about the cast: "This is one of the hardest working groups I have ever worked with. Despite the fact that we were hit strongly by the flu, the fellows, mostly freshmen, are striving to make 'Stalag' one of St. Joe's best productions."

Bill Powers and Jim Egan, working on publicity, have made plans for the lounge to be furnished and for refreshments to be served between acts.

Authentic Props, Too!

Joe Armon, the stage manager, has almost completed the set for the play. Working with him on crew are: John Sheehan, John Conroy, Jim Rodgers, Vern Gladu, Joe Kanamuel, Steve Bencze, Frank Fitzgerald, and Tom Gavin.

Jack Cochran, president of the Columbian players, and John Popp are scouring the countryside for authentic props.

IPA Names Thobe Chairman

St. Joe senior Urban A. Thobe was appointed chairman of the junior division of the Indiana Philosophical Association at a meeting of the division of religion and philosophy on Nov. 8.

The IPA constitution provides that the head of the undergraduate section be chosen by the philosophy department if there is no philosophy club on the campus.

Thobe's Essay Wins 4th

The next meeting of the statewide philosophy group will be held on the St. Joseph's campus with the date tentatively set for April 19, 1958.

Thobe won fourth place in the fall essay contest of the IPA with a paper on "The Scientist in Search of Wisdom." The awards for the 18 papers submitted were announced at the meeting held at DePauw university on Nov. 2.

Fr. Kaiser Past Prexy

In past essays contests, St. Joseph's won third place in the spring of 1957 with John R. Kasing's paper on "The Irrationality of Platonism."

The last meeting of the Indiana Philosophical Association held on campus was in the spring of 1947. At the following meeting Fr. Edwin Kaiser, C.P.P.S. was elected president of the association. He served during the 1947-48 school year.

The current president of the IPA is Fr. Murel Vogel, S. J., of West Baden, Indiana.

Talent Show Holds Auditions Wed., Dec. 4

Are you a dancer, singer, pianist, pantomimist, tuba player, acrobat, comedian, or wild-animal tamer? Are you anything else besides a rational animal and a student at St. Joseph's college?

If you can answer "yes" to any of these questions, then you have a date with Mr. Willard G. Walsh when he holds auditions for the Student Council's talent show, Dec. 11.

Show Well-Received

"Even if you're not a master of your art, come and try out anyway," says senior John Bian, assistant director of the production. The audience will be appreciative of your efforts, and you won't be ribbed for the rest of the year about the goofs you pull in your act. It's all going to be in the spirit of fun.

A similar show was presented last year and was well-received by students and faculty alike, according to Student Council president Louis Kun. It is hoped that the show this year will be an even greater success.

Mr. Walsh Directs

Assistant director Bian emphasized that all St. Joe students, without exception, are eligible to participate. All a student has to do is appear for the auditions.

The production is under the direction of Mr. Walsh, and will be moderated by Fr. Leonard J. Kostka, the college chaplain.

Frosh Choose Class Officers

On Tuesday, Nov. 18, the freshman class voted for their class officers. The offices of secretary and treasurer were decided on the first ballot. A run-off was necessary to determine the president and vice-president.

The officers of the 1957 freshman class are: Larry Kelly, president; Kevin Downey, vice-president; Richard Lazarski, secretary; and Elmer Nett, treasurer.

Larry Kelly attended St. Mary's high school in Marion, Ohio. While at St. Mary's Larry was a member of the Honor Society and the Student Council. He was president of his class in his sophomore and senior years. He is majoring in accounting at St. Joseph's.

Kevin Downey hails from Wallingsford, Conn. At Cheshire Academy he was a member of the Academy Glee club. Kevin interrupted his schooling for a while to serve in the U. S. Marine Corps. He is a philosophy major at St. Joe.

Richard Lazarski, a chemical engineering major, is from St. Patrick high school in Chicago, where he was a member of the National Honor Society. He was also sports editor of his school paper.

Elmer Nett comes to St. Joe from Fond du Lac, Wisc. He attended St. Mary's Springs high school. He is a history major at St. Joe.

Scholastic Achievement, Character Basis of Student Nomination

by Greg Mahoney

Sixteen seniors have been accepted to represent St. Joseph's in the 1957-58 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

This annual publication is a listing of the outstanding members of the senior classes of colleges and universities throughout the country. Selection to Who's Who is considered to be one of the highest honors that can be bestowed on a senior.

Selections were based upon scholastic achievement, character and general attitude throughout the students' college careers and participation in extra-curricular activities.

The senior class nominated candidates for representation on the list. The college faculty made the final selection of the 16 students.

This year's seniors who were accorded this honor are:

John W. Bian, of Elmhurst, Ill., a marketing major. John was vice president of his freshman and sophomore classes and was president of his junior class last year. This year he is the Chairman of Welfare on the Student Council.

Alfred P. Bianucci, of Cicero, Ill., an accounting major, is a member of the Delta Epsilon Sigma honor society. In his sophomore year he was a member of the Homecoming committee and was chairman of the Prom last year. He has been named to the Dean's List.

John R. Burke, of Meinrad, Ind., who is majoring in accounting. John played some football and basketball and was included on the Dean's List.

Robert E. Christen, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., an accounting major. This year Bob is serving as president of the senior class.

Thomas F. Fruehe, of Elmhurst, Ill., a philosophy major. Tom is currently vice-president of the senior class. He serves on the Homecoming and Prom committees and was a member of the Geology club his sophomore and junior years. He has been on the Dean's List.

Kevin C. Hensley, of Munster, Ind., majoring in biology. He participated in intramurals in his freshman, sophomore and junior years, as well as being a member of the track team in his second year. As a freshman, he was a member of the Lake County club, and this year he is active in the Biology club.

He was named to the Dean's List and was selected for the Catholic Honor Society.

Gregory Joseph Jancich, of Whiting, Ind., who is majoring in history. Greg's biggest contributions to St. Joseph's were in the field of athletics. Since his freshman year he has played forward on the Puma basketball team and in the spring has alternated between the pitcher's mound and the outfield for the basketball squad.

He was a chairman of the Disciplinary Committee of the Student Council and has been named to the Dean's List.

Louis J. Kun, of Fords, N. J., a history major. Lou is currently serving as president of the Student Council. He was a member of the Veterans club all four years, serving as its vice-president his sophomore year, and the History club the past two years. He has participated in intramurals and was named to the Dean's List.

Jerome E. Lachnicht, of Le Roy, N. Y., an economics major. Jerry is currently serving as vice-president of the Student Council. He is also a member of the Delta Epsilon Sigma Honor Society.

Jerry was treasurer of his junior class and the financial manager of last year's prom. In his sophomore year he was an inter-hall representative. He was a member of the freshman football team and played varsity baseball last year.

He has been a member of the Commerce club since his freshman year.

Charles E. Lancaster, of Lebanon, Ky., a history major. Charlie is currently serving as Student Council Treasurer and is a member of the Athletic Committee. He also was the public address announcer at the football and basketball games for the last three years.

A Better Way To Say It

In the last issue of Stuff, this column sought to point out the advantages of a Catholic college education, as it manifests itself here at St. Joe.

Since the last issue, a very interesting article on the same subject, but written under different circumstances, was passed on to Stuff for possible elaboration.

The article, written by Ted Thomas, is entitled "Proof of the Pudding." It appeared in the September, 1957 issue of the Catholic Home Messenger published by the Pious Society of St. Paul, Inc., at St. Paul's Monastery, Canfield, Ohio.

There are four specific reasons why every St. Joe man should read this article. First of all it's a story about St. Joseph's college, though St. Joseph's isn't mentioned in the story.

Secondly, it's a story about a St. Joe student (Ted Thomas) under the fictitious name of Mark. Thirdly, the story was written by Ted Thomas.

Last but not least, the article is concerned with the same subject discussed in the previous editorial, viz., the benefits of a Catholic college education. Ted Thomas' article does what the editorial tried to do.

"Proof of the Pudding" not only proves the value of a Catholic college education but also proves that student writing can pay off because of personal initiative. Ted received $32 for writing this article.

Although the magazine in which Ted's article appeared cannot be found in the library-periodical stacks, a copy has been placed on reserve with Fr. Banet for the next two weeks.

Every St. Joe man should read this article. It will take only a few minutes of your time to read it and it will be well worth the time.

How About You?

"Do you have a nose for news?" If you do, then we want you.

Stuff could use some spirited reporters, particularly sophomores and juniors, who would like to do something a little extra for the school and themselves. There can be great satisfaction in writing a story and seeing your "master-piece" in print.

How about it ???

If you're saying to yourself, "It takes too much time," you're wrong: It will take about an hour or so a week. That's all.

Anybody is welcome to join the staff.

What Do You Think?

by Dick Vomish

With the approaching of Thanksgiving we should all stop and recollect our thoughts and be grateful for the many blessings bestowed upon us in the course of our lives. It is true that there have been many gifts given to us in our favor, but if you were to take those for which you are most grateful, what would they be?

Gerald Hagerman, freshman, Detroit, Mich.

On Thanksgiving Day this year I have many things to be thankful for. The most important thing that comes to my mind is the fact that my parents have sacrificed a great deal in their lives to send me through good Catholic schools, and now that I am on the last leg of my education, I am going to thank God for giving to me two wonderful people for my parents.

Jack Milas, freshman, Chicago, Ill.

First of all, I am grateful to God for giving to me two wonderful parents. They gave me something that no one else can beat, a Catholic education. Four years of What Ho! Why No Story?

Dear Mr. Bosch,

Wonderful job you and your staff didn't do on the Homecoming Dance. Even though we didn't have a game that day, there was a dance in the evening or didn't you know. It wasn't the greatest, but even so, there should have been something about it in Stuff.

At least all was not lost, there were two pictures in the paper, one of the queen and her court and one of the queen and her date. Here I have another comment to make. Why aren't the names of the girls in the queen's court mentioned in the picture?

Everything considered I feel it was very poor policy on the part of Stuff to exclude any comment of this, the biggest dance of the school year next to the Prom.

Yours respectfully,
Ray Edwards

Ed. note

It is not within the practice of good journalism to report "dead news" (in this case almost two weeks old), as the basis of journalistic communication is determined by immediacy and relative news value.

It is agreed that STUFF should have included the names of the girls in the queen's court. However, since our photographer neglected to get the names and also since those connected with the dance could not make positive identification in the printed picture, the names were withheld so as to avoid error.

this learning was at St. Rita's High School in the city of Chicago, where the Augustinian priests, among the best as far as teaching religion goes, staff the school.

I am also grateful to the faculty, and especially to my counselor at St. Joe's for all that they have done for me.

Bill Fortin, freshman, Whiting, Ind.

Excluding religion I would say the biggest blessing is the people who have been close to me and have meant so much, and the people who have done so much for me. George Beemsterboer, freshman, Dayton, O.

I am particularly grateful to my mother and father for enabling me to have a Catholic education.

John Hoffman, freshman, Chicago, Ill.

I think that the thing I am most grateful for is the chance for a higher education. I feel that I owe this to my parents. They have worked hard all their lives so that I may benefit by receiving a higher education.

My parents did not have the opportunity. They had to leave school and go to work, to support their own parents. This is one of the many things that I am grateful for on Thanksgiving Day.

Bob Stewart, junior, Chicago, Ill.

When I think of Thanksgiving, the first thing to come to my mind is the national tradition of the entire family enjoying a stupendous meal together. Sometimes conditions exist which prevent this ideal from being materialized; such things as wars, depressions and other serious catastrophes.

I am most thankful that I have never before been placed in the middle of such instances and have never been prevented from being with my family on Thanksgiving Day to thank God for the bounty which we have received.

Eileen Handschiegil, freshman, Mundelein College, Chicago, Ill.

I am thankful for the opportunity of going to college. In my last year of high school, I was offered a scholarship to Mundelein college, by a girl who had to drop out of school. This gave me an excellent chance to further my education, since without the scholarship I would not have been able to continue in school.

Madelyn Lawry, freshman, Mundelein College, Chicago, Ill.

I am thankful for a good home and the chance to further my education in a good Catholic college. I like it at Mundelein very much. Everybody is so friendly and helpful that it makes it like a second home.

Rosemarie Juppe, junior, Mundelein, Waukegan, Ill.

Like most people I am most thankful for the benefits of a Catholic education. Also I am very thankful for the road signs, for we probably never would have found this place.

And Man Jumped Over The Moon

Between the Lines

by Greg Mahoney

Well, earthmen, this has been an epic month for our little planet. Man-made satellites are going up, unidentified flying objects are landing everywhere, and everyone is getting up at dawn to watch sputniks pass over.

Man (or at least man's best friend) is now the conqueror of space. Russia evidently found horizontal expansion impractical and impossible, so the Reds decided on a different route—straight up.

Undoubtedly, Sputnik has kicked off a new era in modern civilization. When that controversial electronic doghouse broke through the atmosphere and started on its merry orbit, the barriers of space travel were somewhat lowered, science-fiction came closer to fact, and people began taking space movies more seriously.

It would be safe to say that Sputnik I and II have been the major items of discussion wherever rational creatures gathered this month. And nobody did more talking about Russia's sputniks than Russia, itself. The perfection and successful launching of the satellites (compliments of a number of captive German scientists) was the biggest piece of Soviet propaganda since the Red Revolution.

Sputnik was the icing on the Soviet Union's gala 40th birthday cake. As far as the Russian people were concerned, it effectively minimized the Zuchov firing while that once-famous general crept away into an insecure obscurity. And it gave the USSR a 2-0 lead in the race for the mastery of outer space.

Stop Cheering?

Neuer, Neuer . . .

That old identifiable flying object, the football, will not be hovering over Collegeville again until spring practice unless we get a you-know-what.

This being the case (perhaps) the scene of St. Joe sports activity will shift to the fieldhouse where the round ball will take over the spotlight.

The St. Joe basketball team meets formidable competition on the hardwood floor. Competition in the ICC basketball wars is hot and heavy. There are no push-overs when it comes to basketball.

Upsets are common and the champion seldom goes undefeated in the ICC race.

Now that our voices are just coming back after Saturday's epic game, it is not the time to start thinking that our cheering days are over until another football season.

The basketball team needs our support just as much as the football team. Spirit is the same no matter which team we're rooting for.

Instead of doing our Puma spellouts, the St. Joe soundoff, and the copy-righted Collegeville growl in the open air, we'll be relaxing in the warmth of the fieldhouse.

We can't be relaxing on our cheering though. Let's help the basketball team to a top spot in the ICC, too.

The more we cheer the more we will make St. Joe synonymous with ICC champ in every sport.

While Ivan was reveling in his latest and greatest boast, many a red face in the United States looked with chagrin at the sky. While America's own satellite project was grounded in a mire of red tape, a supposedly inferior Russian scientific technique had shot up two man-made moons. Now American scientists, and those of our major allies, are wearing out their slide-rules to get back into the game before space becomes a Communist-owned and operated parking lot for sputniks.

For mankind this great scientific event could very well be a two-edged weapon like its predecessors, the atomic and hydrogen bombs have become. If, as it claims, Russia's interest in experimenting with the satellites is purely scientific, then the world, by working as a unit, is that much closer to reaching and exploring distant worlds. God's universe is there for the taking.

If, however, the Soviets are more intent on Mars, the god of war, than the planet, the earth beneath the sputniks is a wide-open target. It would be a simple project to arm future sputniks with guided missiles which could devastate the free world with the push of a button.

That's something for man to thank about when he looks at the moon sailing peacefully across the night sky . . . It's not alone up there, now.

Spaceward Ho?

Moving Day Comes Soon

Fr. Francis Hehn, treasurer of the Society of the Precious Blood and former professor of accounting at St. Joseph's, blesses the new faculty residences at the dedication ceremonies last Sunday, Nov. 17. Bishop Carberry was unable to attend due to the illness of Bishop Bennent.

Fr. Francis Hehn Dedicates New Faculty Residence Site

Sunday, Nov. 17, 1957 marked the beginning of a new era in Collegeville history, as far as three lay faculty members were concerned.

On this cold windy November afternoon, the new faculty residences on the southern edge of the St. Joseph's campus were officially dedicated.

Fr. Hehn Presides

Presiding at the dedication ceremonies was Fr. Francis Hehn, C.P.P.S., treasurer of the Society of the Precious Blood. Fr. Hehn formerly was a professor of accounting at St. Joseph's.

The Most Rev. John J. Carberry, auxiliary Bishop of Lafayette, was originally scheduled to bless the site, but due to the illness of Bishop Bennent, Bishop of Lafayette, he was unable to attend.

Fr. Hehn, Dr. Barton Speak

A banquet in the college cafeteria followed the dedication ceremonies. Approximately 70 members of the faculty and their immediate friends attended.

Fr. Edward Maziarz, C.P.P.S., dean of the college, acted as unofficial toastmaster. He introduced Fr. Hehn who gave a short talk and then introduced Dr. Jay Barton II, associate professor of biology.

3 Move In

Dr. Barton is one of the three faculty members who will move into the new residences in the early part of December. The others are Mr. Bernard Qubeck, instructor in music and Mr. Richard Sharf, associate professor of physical education.

Dr. Barton is also the president of the College Community Founation, a corporation formed by the three new residents. The corporation has the responsibility of formulating regulations necessary for the welfare of the community, and to oversee the general development of the area. This includes clearing and surveying, and the availability of roads, electricity, and a sewer.

Dedication Day Appropriate

The month of November was considered appropriate for the dedication because it is the month of the launching of the second national advertising campaign on behalf of higher education.

The timeliness of the ceremonies was considered one example of what America's colleges are first of all trying to do for themselves, thereby making themselves worthy of any benefits received from the public as a result of the national advertising campaign.

Reviews at Random

by Jim McCullough

The Ordeal of Gilbert Pinfold by Evelyn Waugh shows what happens when a brilliant satirist grows old, fat, and bored—he turns his comic pen on himself.

It seems that three years ago Mr. Waugh suffered the same hallucinations that plague Mr. Pinfold in this "conversation piece." The character of Mr. Pinfold is, in essence, Mr. Waugh himself.

The book opens with a "portrait of the artist in middle age." Mr. Pinfold lives in the lonely, secluded village of Lychpole, ignoring questionnaires sent in by eager students for their theses.

A man of Baroque taste, he abhors plastics, Picasso, sunbathing, and jazz. To his contemporaries he seems opinionated and impervious to criticism. Pinfold's only irritations are boredom, insomnia, and rheumatism.

To allay the first he is given to consuming "not illiberal" quantities of wine, gin and brandy. For the latter two he sloshes down pills and drugs with creme de menthe.

Naturally Pinfold begins to feel a little under the weather. He embarks on a cruise to Ceylon, but it's too late—the hallucinations begin.

Other people in similar circumstances: see pink elephants; Mr. Pinfold has the writer's imagination. Strange sounds assail him. First it's the barking of a dog, then from somewhere below decks an old-time evangelical meeting. Later a "Pocoputa Indian band" seems to strike up from nowhere, playing a three-eight rhythm used by the Gestapo to drive prisoners stark, raving mad. "The Russians use it now," a mysterious voice exclaims.

Pinfold's cross grows heavier. Somehow he hears the ship's captain and an exotic woman torturing a steward. A Mr. Culton-Cornforth denounces Pinfold's books over the radio. New mysterious voices threaten to kill him: "Haloo-loo-loo-loo. Hark-ark-ark-ark-ark. We've got you."

Mr. Pinfold attacks the problem rationally. He finally concludes

Hi guys! We're back again, this time midst the trappings of the famed Midwestern winter. The Pumas have donned their blowy weather clothing, (i.e. Polish gym shoes, dirty khaki's, beat up sweat shirts, and old army fatigue jackets) the trees are happily raining their last leaves on Fr. Dreiling's lawns, and no one stands outside the doors to Science hall anymore, mainly because it's colder than a—well, you know how cold it is.

Homecoming has come and gone, as if you didn't know, and Thanksgiving looms closer with Christmas not too far behind. If this Christmas has the same atmosphere as last year's, everyone will be glad to get home, and away from this old place at last. Along with the sound of breaking bottles and the clunking of cans as students sweep out cars to take home, and the touching sound of "My-girl's-gotta-have-a-present-and-I'm-broke-blues," this December 19th should be fairly interesting.

But, that's a long way off. Right now everyone's more interested in Thanksgiving turkey, the lack of social life, and the fact that no one ever gets any mail despite the fact that poor Bro. Larry is terribly overworked.

One heartening fact, Midterms are over, and the Profs have decided not to have another meeting concerning just what day to throw tests on until after Thanksgiving. We have this on good authority—rumor.

Good time to quit—We agree!

They Flunked Their Majors?

Shame on two prominent Sophomores, Pete Henderson and Ed Kadela. Seems that they have both flunked their mid-term exams in their majors. Mr. Henderson let one of the pin ball machines in the Rec hall beat him the other day, and Mr. Kadela reneged in a game of pinochle the same day. Perhaps this will teach both boys that constant practice and application is necessary, and no time must be wasted in going to classes, etc. etc. Hope both of you make it at semesters, but remember, only hard work will do it.

SJ Bands Prepares For Concert, B-Ball

The St. Joseph's Band, now an accomplished veteran of the recent football campaign, turns to preparations for its Christmas Concert on Dec. 16 and its participation in the upcoming basketball season.

Besides playing and marching at all the Pumas' home games, the band has also travelled to three away games this year, the furthest being the tilt with Xavier in Cincinnati.

During the basketball season, Mr. Adam P. Lesinsky, band director, plans to divide the 36-man band in half. Under this setup then, one group will play at one game and the second will perform in the next game.

Mr. Lesinsky says that after a little switching around, the band has definitely improved and he anticipates further improvements in the future.

Campus Set 8 Records In March to Title

St. Joseph's champion Pumas set eight all-time ICC records on their march to the 1957 undisputed crown.

Five individual marks and three team records were rewritten. Ed Labbe's toe provided three new extra point records. Because of the Valparaiso cancellation, the Pumas were held down statistically from setting other marks.

The complete list of broken records with the old records in parentheses:

Team Records—Single Season

Best per-game average yards gained—440.5 (411.5—St. Joseph's, 1956).

Least yards gained against—556 (590—St. Joseph's, 1956).

Team Records—Single Game

Most touchdowns from rushing—8, vs. Ball State, Nov. 2 (7—St. Joseph's, 1956, and Valparaiso, 1954)

Individual Records—Single Game

Most extra points scored—6, Ed Labbe, vs. Indiana State, Oct. 19 (5—held by five players).

Individual Records—Single Season

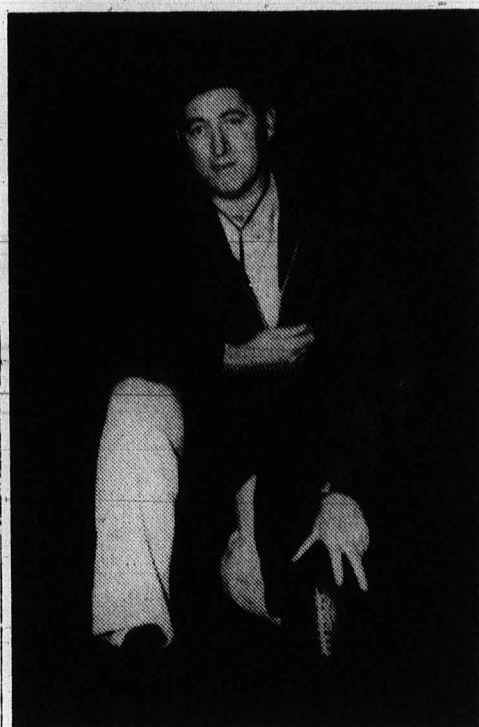

Most extra points scored—16, Ed Labbe (14—Hagye, St. Joseph's, 1956, and Arnold, Valparaiso, 1951)

Most consecutive conversions—15, Ed Labbe (8—Grady, Ball State, 1953)

Individual Records—Cumulative

Most scoring passes—18, Ralph Tite, 1954-57 (12—Helms, Valparaiso, 1953-56).

Most scoring passes caught—8, George Sherwood, 1954-57 (6—Naumann, Valparaiso, 1953-56).

Head Coach Bob Jauron once again led the Joemen to their second consecutive undisputed ICC crown. Nice Going Coach!

Keith Fingerhut Spearheads Puma Attack

Keith Fingerhut, St. Joseph's leading scorer and rusher, finished the season as the top scorer and ground-gainer in the ICC, according to final conference statistics.

Fingerhut tallied 42 points on seven touchdowns and ran up a total of 442 yards rushing to lead in both departments. His closest contender in each category was Butler fullback Kent Stewart, who scored 36 points and rushed for 418 yards. Stewart, incidentally, played in six conference games, whereas Fingerhut, because of the Valparaiso cancellation, played in only five.

Offense and Defense Tops

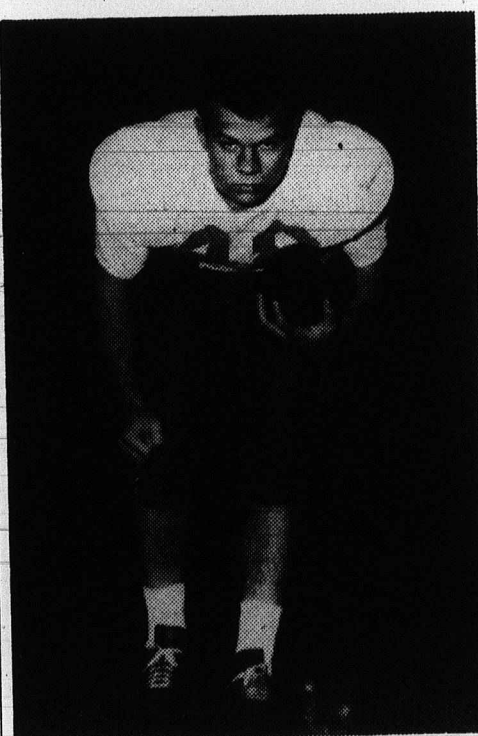

St. Joseph's dominated team statistics, taking honors in total offense, rushing offense, and total defense. The Pumas averaged a total of 440.5 yards per game, including an average of 362.4 yards rushing per game.

St. Joe opponents were able to muster only 111.2 yards per game against the rigid Puma defense. Closest contenders in these categories were Butler, who placed second in total offense and rushing offense, and DePauw, who placed second in total defense.

Keith Fingerhut, SJ's "Man of the Year," single-handedly carried the Pumas in the absence of the injured Mike Murphy. He finished the season with 13 TD's, five of them in the season's finale against Eastern Michigan.

St. Joseph's Sweeps Conference To Retain Undisputed Crown

by Dave Carey

closest rival if you're to be champ.

For the second successive year an undisputed Indiana Collegiate conference crown comes to Collegeville. Coach Bob Jauron's mighty Pumas had to prove themselves true champions, and this they did by overcoming, in some instances, improved competition in the ICC.

Again it was a glorious team effort that put St. Joseph's on top from the start, and kept them there by dominating the foes with a well-balanced attack. Offensively, the big Puma line opened the door for lengthy rushes, so lengthy, in fact, that the passing attack was needed only enough to keep the opponents' defense honest. Defensively, the alert and onrushing Puma forward wall continually thwarted enemy threats.

DePauw Toughest Battle

The five 1957 conference victories brought St. Joseph's consecutive win streak in the ICC to 12, a streak that dates back to Oct. 22, 1955, when Evansville beat the Pumas, 26-13, for the Jauronmen's only league loss that year. St. Joe and the Aces were co-champs in '55.

St. Joseph's met their stiffest competition in the ICC opener Sept. 28 at Greencastle against the fighting DePauw Tigers. Few thought that Mike Murphy's one-yard plunge into the end zone late in the first quarter and Norb Daigle's conversion would be the extent of the scoring. But 7-0 it stood, as a stubborn Tiger crew held the Pumas at bay. Clutch defense was the keynote in the St. Joe victory.

Bulldogs Unable To Bark

For the second year in a row, the closest contender for the crown was pitted to be Butler, and for the second year in a row, the Pumas wasted no time in applying the old adage that you've got to beat your

Flu Cancels Valpo. Tilt
Les Klein and Norb Daigle each tallied two TD's in the 42-0 romp over Indiana State at Terre Haute Oct. 19. The Puma offense machine mounted up 498 yards in this one. Keith Fingerhut more than adequately took over for the injured Mike Murphy in pacing the rushing attack with 128 yards. Ed Labbe added six extra points to set a new all-time ICC game record.

The steady march to the crown was temporarily interrupted over the St. Joe Homecoming weekend, Oct. 26, as Valparaiso's Crusaders were overcome with the pesty Asian flu and could not put together a healthy squad for the annual arch-rival battle.

Ball State Crushed

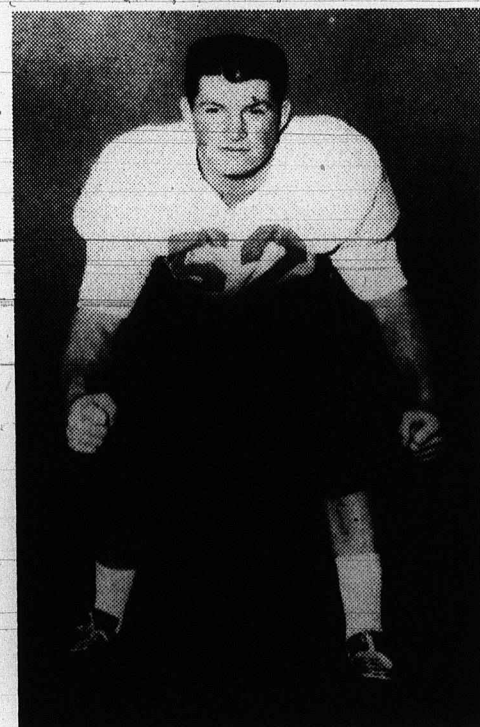

The most overwhelming offensive output of the campaign took place at the expense of Ball State at Muncie, Nov. 2. The Pumas, in smothering the Cardinals, 55-7, piled up their greatest total yardage of the season—548 yards.

Keith Fingerhut's three touchdowns and 129 yards rushing paced the heavy onslaught. Ralph Tite and Tom Deem each added two tallies to the romp.

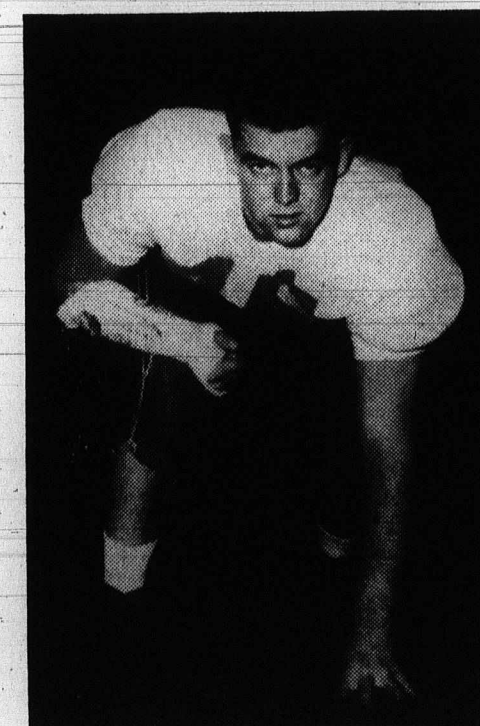

The Pumas returned home for their final conference test, and on a cold, wind-swept field, took advantage of five Evansville fumbles to dump the Aces, 25-0. Fingerhut again paced the attack, this time with two TD's and 144 yards.

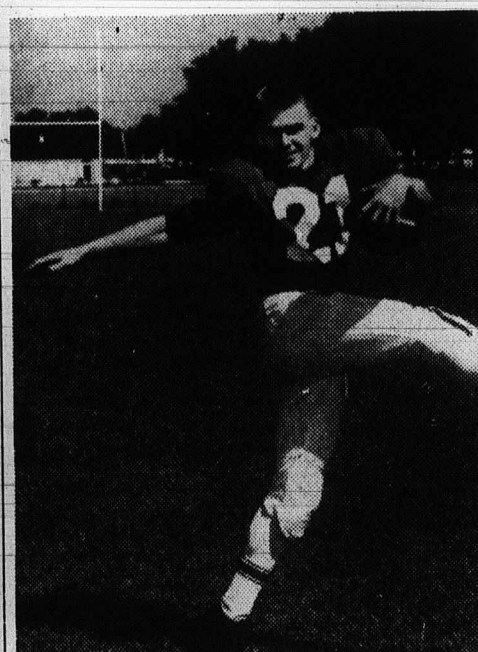

George Sherwood, "the Long Beach Comet," ended a great pass catching career by snaring 8 TD passes for a new ICC record.

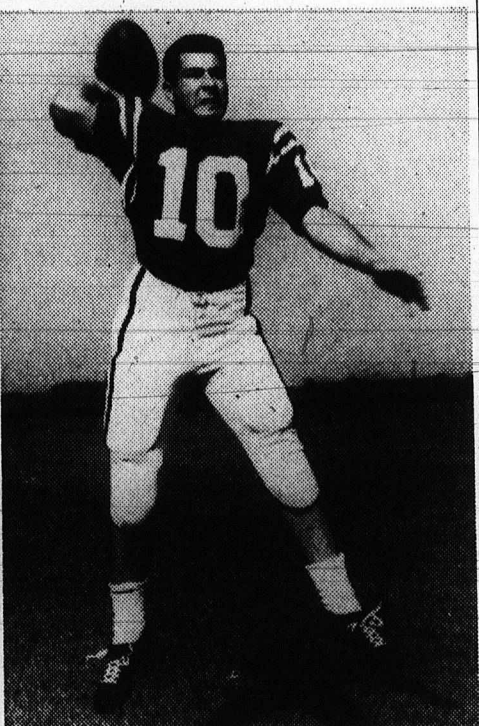

Ray "Hardrock" Knight once again squared off against opposition giving the enemy a rugged time when he was in the Puma forward wall.

Easy going Bill Brinkman proved his gridiron ferocity by opening holes for thrusts of Puma backs.

Bob Hamman, one of the fastest ICC backs, though still plagued with injuries, scored the last '57 Puma TD.

Ralph Tite, a 4-year veteran at quarterback, broke an ICC passing record by firing 18 TD aeriels in his career.

SJ Running Game Routs Eastern Michigan, 48-13

by Tom Mahoney

St. Joseph's Pumas rocked Eastern Michigan college 48-13 last Saturday, Nov. 16, in the regular season's finale. Senior fullback Keith Fingerhut scored five touchdowns and gained 281 yards in 31 carries to lead the Pumas to the lopsided win. The game had been billed as a clash of giants, since Eastern Michigan was the reigning champion of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Before the afternoon was over the Pumas had dulled much of the lustre from that title. Their powerful backfield ate up 478 yards and 20 first downs, while the bewildered Hurons had to settle for a net total of 17 yards and no first downs for the day.

Hurons Scoreless in 2nd Half

Despite their impotent attack Eastern Michigan electrified the crowd twice in the first half by running back Puma kickoffs for scores. The teams left the field at halftime in a 13-13 deadlock. It was a different St. Joe club which took the field at the second half. A barrage of swift Puma cleats trampled out 35 points while the Hurons were held scoreless.

The Pumas drew first blood by marching 88 yards in 13 plays in the opening quarter. Fingerhut smashed over from the six for the score, but Labbe's try for the P.A. T. went wide, leaving it 6-0. Puma rooters had scarcely quieted down when, on the following kickoff, Huron halfback Dale Nicholas, crossing to his right, took a hand-off and sped 78 yards to tie the score. The point after was good and Eastern Michigan led 7-6.

Keating goes 80 yards for TD

St. Joseph's came right back and marched 43 yards in eight plays. Fingerhut tallied from the three and Labbe's conversion made it 13-7.

But lightning struck again. Puma would-be tacklers stared in disbelief as Kerry Keating breezed past them for 80 yards to knot the game at 13 apiece. The Pumas threatened once more, driving inside the 20 before yielding possession on downs.

Hamman Scores Final SJ TD

The red and white clad Pumas were the whole story in the second half. They scored three times in the third period, and stymied the Huron's secret play by kicking short after each of them. Fingerhut carried for two of the scores on jaunts of 32 and 35 yards. Senior end George Sherwood blocked a Huron punt and scampered five yards with it for the third counter of the period. Fingerhut, Labbe, and Pujo each kicked one of the extra points.

In the fourth quarter it was Fingerhut again, this time from the five. Labbe made it 41-13. Then senior Bob Hamman went 34 yards to register his only touchdown of the season. Pujo's conversion made the final score 48-13.

Take the best football coach in the business today, add three of the finest assistants a coach could ask for, and multiply it by thirty young men that know how to play football and play to win in every game, and the result is the team that you saw run roughshod over Eastern Michigan Saturday.

Once again St. Joe has a championship ball club, a club that everyone is proud of. But champions aren't born, they're made. They're made by hard work, sacrifice, and intestinal fortitude. Each game that they played was a team effort. You can't pick out any individuals as stars throughout the season because they were all stars and played the game as one.

I want to offer my congratulations to Coach Jauron and his staff, Coaches O'Connell, Shemky, and Iofredo for the fine record that their team turned in this season. You have the thanks and appreciation of the entire school. You worked hard to build the fine team that represented St. Joe this season and the results of your efforts are in the record book.

While we know we will see the same high caliber of football next season that we've grown accustomed to seeing since Coach Jauron came to St. Joe, we'll be without the services of eight members of the present squad and it will be a little sad to see the Pumas take the field without them. Throughout graduation we lose both quarterbacks, Ralph Tite and Jim O'Brien; we lose halfbacks Danny Lyman and Bob Hamman; fullback Keith Fingerhut; center Frank Mulcahey; guard Ray Knight; and end George Sherwood. It's tough for any team to lose ball players like them. They were the nucleus by which Coach Jauron built the Pumas into the ball club that they are today.

Basketball Preview:

St. Joe Cagers Open At Xavier Face DePauw in Home Debut

by Joe Gregorich

After Saturday's crushing defeat of Eastern Michigan which closed out the football schedule, the center of sports activity now turns from the gridiron to the fieldhouse. The 1957-1958 edition of the St. Joseph's basketball team makes its home debut against DePauw on Dec. 10. The Pumas' initial effort of 1957 takes place on Dec. 1, when the hardcourt quintet travels to Cincinnati to meet Xavier university, one of the Midwest's leading basketball powers.

St. Joseph's will not launch its ICC season, however, until Dec. 7, when Valparaiso entertains the Pumas at Valparaiso. But if opening the conference season against arch-rival Valparaiso isn't important enough, the following Tuesday certainly will be, for on Dec. 10 DePauw's ICC defending champs invade the St. Joe hardcourt.

Seven Returnees From '56-57

DePauw compiled an 8-4 record in capturing the crown of the most exciting basketball season the ICC has ever enjoyed. With the exception of last-place Indiana State, every school had a crack at the Pumas in the very last week of play. After the smoke had cleared, the Pumas found themselves in a three-way tie for fourth place, breaking even in 12 games as did Butler and Valparaiso. Evansville and Ball State tied for second with 7-5 records.

Coach Dale O'Connell, now in his third year as head basketball mentor, has been working out with a 12-man squad in hopes of bettering last year's 12-11 won-lost record. The squad has seven returnees from last year, three of them regulars. There are four seniors, three juniors and five sophomores.

Rogovich Leads Guards

The Pumas, however, will be seriously handicapped by the loss of Bill Lewis, who is ineligible until the second semester. Lewis is a jumping-jack forward who averaged 15 points and 10 rebounds per game. The comparatively small (six feet even) junior has electrified both home and visiting fans with his uncanny ability to intercept an enemy pass and "dunk" the ball in the Puma basket.

With the temporary loss of Lewis, the St. Joe offense will center around junior guard Dan Rogovich. Rogovich, at 5-7 the smallest member of the Puma squad, led the team in scoring with an 18-point average in 23 games. The fiery little guard was a unanimous all-ICC choice by virtue of his 18.6 conference scoring average. In addition he led the ICC in free throws scored with 93 in 116 attempts.

Jancich At Forward Again

Returning to the other guard slot is 5-11 senior George Lux, who played most of last year in a starting position. Lux, who averaged nine points a game last season, will be hard-pressed by senior letterman John O'Neil, and sophomores Jim Koehler and Ray Strabavy. Koehler was second-high scorer on last year's freshman squad with a 15 point average, while 6-1 Strabavy scored nine points a game.

Assured of a starting berth at forward is 6-4 senior Greg Jancich. Jancich, who placed on the all-ICC squad as a sophomore, got off to a poor start last season but finished with a nine point scoring average. Although Jancich snares his share of rebounds, he specializes as an outside shooter. His crowd-pleasing high-arch set shots from far out-side the key are well-nigh impossible to stop.

He also holds the ICC record for most free throws in a game without a miss (14) and for most consecutive free throws without a miss (22).

Battle For Forward Slot

The other forward spot shapes up as quite a battle among senior Jim Elbert, juniors Angelo Dattomo and Dave Cassin, and sophomores Bob Williams and Jack Finnegan. Although the first three seem to have the inside track on the basis of experience, the two sophomores made quite a showing on last year's frosh squad.

Williams led the frosh scoring with a 20.3 average, his best efforts coming in St. Joe's double victories over Valpo's frosh. Williams tallied 29 and 26 points in leading the frosh to 78-54 and 65-62 margins. Finnegan closed with a 12-point average, his best showing a 21-point game versus Wabash.

Center Biggest Problem

O'Connell's main headache seems to be the center position. Right now 6-4 sophomore John Bishop is slated for the pivot slot. The lanky sophomore never played basketball in high school, but he showed enough promise to land a starting berth on the frosh squad, where he scored 48 points in four games.

It will be the forwards' responsibility to spell off Bishop. Jancich, Elbert, Cassin and Dattomo have all seen action at center in previous years.

Pumas Clinch ICC Crown, Beat Evansville

by Tom Mahoney

St. Joseph's college repeated as undisputed Indiana Conference champions by whipping Evansville college 25-0 on Saturday, Nov. 9. A Dad's Day crowd braved wintry weather to see the Pumas push across three second period scores to end any doubt as to the eventual outcome.

Fullback Keith Fingerhut was again the top Puma runner as he grounded out 144 yards. Evansville's rushing attack during the raw afternoon netted one yard, to which they added 46 yards on passes.

Daigle Scores 1st TD

Evansville's only threat came in the scoreless opening stanza when they got to the Puma 19, following a bad snap from center on fourth down. Tite's interception of a Jerry Trainer pass ended this bid.

St. Joseph's then began a thrust which carried them to the Ace's 23, where they were forced to yield on downs. Moments later, however, they recovered an Evansville fumble on the 19 and after two plays

by Mike Goldrick

The IM football season ended with the championship game of the tournament, and it ended with as exciting a finish as you will ever see. The first round ended with the first four upper-class teams left.

The Bennett Gamokes drubbed the Drexel Dragons 27 to 6, the Noll 7-7's dumped the Drexel Lions 28 to 0, the Bennett Stags stopped the Gaspar Blockbusters 20 to 0, and the East Seifert Overtakers dropped the Dorm 7 Mistakes from the ranks of the unbeaten 12 to 0. In the second round the Gamokes won their twentieth straight game by thumping the Stags 23 to 0, and the Noll 7-7's, running their string to ten straight wins, after an opening game loss to the Gamokes, beat the Overtakers 21 to 6. This set the stage for the championship game.

The 7-7's drew first blood when Ray Kuzniar intercepted a Gamoke pass and ran for the touchdown. The 7-7's converted to make the score 7-0. The Gamokes came back on a pass to George Rickord, but failed to convert. The score was 7-6 at half. In the third quarter the Gamokes moved ahead on a pass to Ed McDermott, but they failed to convert again. In the final quarter the 7-7's moved to the Gamoke 1 yard line. With four down and only 20 seconds left, Mike Goldrick lobbed a pass to Jim Gagliano for the winning points. Larry Mortenson caught a pass for the extra point and the final score was 14-12.

The basketball season will begin the week after Thanksgiving holiday.

The IM bowling season is slated to begin this week, with three leagues on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. The starting time is 4 p.m. They will be handicap leagues.

He served on the Dance committee in his junior year, and was active in the Commerce club his freshman and sophomore years and the Glee club his first three years. He also played in intramurals all four years.

James A. O'Brien, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who is majoring in English. Jim, a consistent name on the Dean's List, was named to the Honorary Scholastic Society. His literary talents have been evidenced in both Stuff and Measure.

Jim was president of the SJ Debating Society in his junior year, and is active in the society this year, also. Jim also spends his Saturday afternoons as No. 2 Puma quarterback.

Francis A. Strezo, of East Chicago, Ill., majoring in history. Frank has been on the Dean's List and is a member of the Lake County Club, the Chicago club, and the History club.

Urban A. Thobe, of Dayton, Ohio, a philosophy major. In his junior year, he was the Secretary and Treasurer of the Glee club.

Urban has been named on the Dean's List and is also a member of the Honorary Scholastic Society.

Ralph W. Tite, (not pictured) of Chicago, Ill., a philosophy major. Ralph has quarterbacked the Pumas since his freshman year. This year he is the president of the Monogram club. He played baseball in his sophomore year.

William R. Walters, of Hammond, Ind., a history major. Willie is perhaps best known for his exuberant cheerleading during his four years at St. Joe. He was secretary of his junior class, and a member of the Athletic Committee his junior and senior years and the Scholastic Committee this year.

Willie is enrolled in the Delta Epsilon Sigma Society and has appeared on the Dean's List. He has been a member of the Columbian had netted six yards, Norb Diagle shook loose for the remaining 13 yards and the score. Ed Labbe's try for the point went wide, ending his streak at 19 consecutive conversions.

O'Brien tosses TD Aerial

The Pumas put its second unit into the fray after the score, and on Evansville's second play from scrimmage after the kickoff, tackle Rod Pujo pounced on a loose ball at the 34 yard line. Jim O'Brien then hit Dick Romo racing out on the flat and the speedy halfback, seemingly trapped by a host of Aces, nimbly wound his way through the maze to score. Labbe's try again went wide.

With three minutes left to play in the half, the Pumas took an Evansville punt on their own 43. On the first play from scrimmage Fingerhut boomed through the Evansville line and outran their secondary for 57 yards and the third St. Joseph's touchdown. Their halftime lead remained at 18-0.

2nd ICC Crown in Row

Midway into the 3rd quarter, the Pumas took over on the Aces 47, following a punt. Tite then hit Ray Regner with a toss to put the ball on the 15. Romo moved it to the five, and Fingerhut after lugging it to the two, burst into the end zone. Labbe's kick made it 25-0. The win enabled the Pumas to wind up their conference slate with a perfect 5-0 record.
